

ABSTRACT

The description included below explains how to create a display of moving, floating candles or oil candles. The same system can be employed for advertisement purposes.

This is accomplished utilizing magnets, and the outcome is impressive because the method employed to create the movement is not obvious to the audience.